

ITALY LANDS ARMY TO AID SERB TROOPS

THIRTY THOUSAND SOLDIERS NOW LANDING AT AVLONA, ALBANIA, ON SHORES OF ADRIATIC SEA.

STRONG NAVAL POINT

Italians to Aid Serbians in Reorganization of Latter's Army.—Seek to Forestall Move by Austria.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Dec. 17.—With affairs in Greece assuming a quieter character, there has been a partial defection in European capitals with regard to the Italian plans regarding Albania. The general belief seems to be that the operations in this new theatre of war will be on a great scale. The Italians in strength are already ashore at Avlona as well as at certain points of strategic importance. For years Avlona has been regarded by Italy and Austria alike as the key to the Adriatic, and it is a maxim in south central Europe that whoever commands Avlona has been for several months occupied by a light force of Italians for police purposes.

Advantage to Italy.
The anxiety with which Italy watches the Albanian coast, is due to the existence there of good harbors, in contrast with the total absence of such harbors along the Adriatic shore. Should any of these harbors fall into hostile hands, the Italian fleet would be gravely handicapped.
Italy is expected to contribute greatly to the reorganization of the Serbian army which is now concentrating in Albania, where its ranks are being reformed and supplies landed by the allies during the past fortnight distributed. Stubborn fighting continues between the Serbians and Hungarians along the Drina river in Albania.

Italians in Albania.
Paris, Dec. 17.—The Milan correspondent of the Journal says it is estimated there are 30,000 Italian troops at Avlona, Albania. While the Avlona position is hardly favorable for an offensive movement, he says the expedition may be regarded as the starting point of operations on a large scale.

Fighting in Montenegro.
Paris, Dec. 17.—The following official Montenegro telegram was received here today:
At dawn of December 14 the Austrians directed a general attack at all our positions on the Sankak. At night our advanced troops had to retire north of Chavovce and Biele. In the direction of Ipek-Bozai they, after several days fighting, succeeded in occupying Bozai.
Along the other fronts there was infantry fighting.

LONDON SUBSCRIBES TO FRENCH WAR LOAN

French Minister of Finance Announces Subscriptions Aggregating $120,000,000 From British Source.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris (delayed), Dec. 16.—In the course of the debate today in the chamber of deputies that the chamber grant three months' credit on budget account, Alexander Ribot, French minister of finance, stated that the subscription to the recent French national loan from London alone was 600,000,000 francs ($120,000,000).
At another point in his speech Mr. Ribot stated that while the war expenditure at the beginning of October was 1,600,000,000 francs ($320,000,000), it was now 2,100,000,000.

TO RESTRICT EXPORT OF COD LIVER OIL

Newfoundland Government Takes Action When It Finds Germany Has Been Making Explosives of Product.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. John, Newfoundland, Dec. 17.—Restriction by the Newfoundland government on export of cod liver oil from this colony were announced today, because information has been received a large quantity of oil had found its way to Germany, where the explosive contained in it could be utilized in the manufacture of explosives.
Hereafter oil may be sent to the United States only if consigned to the British consular general at New York or Boston or to a few firms endorsed by the consulate.

WILL RETAIN SEATS IN PRIVY COUNCIL

Fail to Unseat Two Members on Account of Their German Birth—Are British Citizens.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Dec. 17.—The attempt to deprive Sir Edgar Steyer and Sir Ernest Cassell of membership in the private council on account of their German birth, has been defeated. The Lord Chief Justice, Baron Reading, today held that Sir Edgar and Sir Ernest as naturalized British subjects, had all the rights and privileges of British born subjects and therefore were entitled to membership in the privy council.

MONTENEGRO, FREE SINCE ROME'S FALL, NOW MENACED BY TEUTONIC INVASION

Montenegro, the only country of southeastern Europe which successfully resisted the great wave of Turkish invasion in the middle ages, and since the fall of the Roman empire has acknowledged no alien master, is now menaced by invasion from the conquered territory of Serbia.

MRS. ASQUITH SUES THE LONDON GLOBE ON A LIBEL CHARGE

Wife of Premier Asks Court for Restraint Writ Against Famous English Newspaper.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, Dec. 17.—Mrs. Herbert H. Asquith, wife of the premier, appeared as a plaintiff in chancery court today demanding an order to restrain the Globe from the publication of alleged libels. Mrs. Asquith's attorney said:

"For a fortnight Mrs. Asquith has been deliberately pursued in the defendant's newspaper with accusations of disloyalty and of association with German prisoners at Donnington Hall. She has been named as a traitor and a disgrace to her sex. These attacks were systematically and malevolently maintained and were only suspended after the writ had been issued."

The attorney opposed the Globe's request for a postponement, urging the court not to deprive the plaintiff of this opportunity to clear herself. "The persecution of Mrs. Asquith has been going on nearly a whole year," he said. "It began last spring in another newspaper, which the defendant doubtless would say was of a lower class than the Globe. That paper had to apologize publicly and at Mrs. Asquith's request, paid £100 to the Red Cross fund. The same people who disseminated those libels to the Globe, sent sheaves of anonymous letters to the plaintiff and imputations against her were made in social circles. The matter has now come to head in a form where the defendants can be brought to account and made to give their reasons for accusations."

DISABLING OF MINNESOTA NOT DUE TO CRIMINAL ACT—INQUIRY RESULT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 17.—Department of justice agents at San Francisco have completed their examination of the disabled steamer Minnesota and reported they found that the recent breakdown off the California coast was not due to any criminal act, so far as could be learned.

Miss Louise Vanderly has returned home, after spending a few days at Freeport, Ill.

HE BRINGS COSTLY GIFTS FOR MRS. GALT

Dr. A. J. de Oliveira Botelho, Brazil has added to the wedding gifts waiting for the White House nuptials. Dr. A. J. de Oliveira Botelho, the first delegate to arrive in Washington for the second Pan-American Scientific Congress, Dec. 27 to Jan. 8, has brought a bracelet of precious Brazilian gems and a corsage of tropical birds' feathers, declared to be very rare. Dr. Botelho is internationally famous as a tuberculosis specialist. He claims to have found a cure for the disease in a bloodless and painless operation.

HOW HORSES FARE IN WAR SERVICE

Little Madison Girl Was Evidently Right in Protecting Shipping Horses Across to War Zone.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Ottawa, Canada, Dec. 17.—An interesting official account of how horses fare in war is contained in a report received here from the chief remount officer with the Canadian troops in France. There are approximately 15,000 horses with the Canadian Army Corps in France and the report points out that even in modern warfare each infantry division of 21,000 men requires 6,200 horses.

Continuing, the report reads: "The horses of a division are taken care of by twelve veterinary officers and one mobile section of twenty-seven men, which attends to the horses in the firing line. There is one Canadian field hospital in France composed of three hundred and eighty-seven men and six officers. It has a capacity of one thousand cases, and the work which is done there is really remarkable. Horses, which in previous wars and in civilian life, would be destroyed at once, are treated so successfully that in the course of the war, they are up around the lines all the time gathering in wounded horses; their horsemanship is remarkable. Wounded horses are immediately given first aid and a horse that is actually fit for reissue, or to be sold as cast for easy duty."

"The men work under the most trying conditions, often exposed to the fire of rifle and big gun. They are up around the lines all the time gathering in wounded horses; their horsemanship is remarkable. Wounded horses are immediately given first aid and a horse that is actually fit for reissue, or to be sold as cast for easy duty."

"During the second battle of Ypres, when the Canadians were pressed to their utmost, at no time was the supply of horses diminished at the firing line. As casualties occurred among battery and transport horses, reinforcements were rushed through the storm of bursting shells to take their places. Although our guns were within three hundred yards of the enemy, here never was a wagon, or a gun lost, in what is known as one of the fiercest engagements that has taken place in this war."

"Horses wounds heal more rapidly than a man's. Cases of horses with ten bullets in them have been known to report complete recovery within a very few weeks. In fact, some wounded horses have been back in the firing line within a week. If a horse cannot walk, however, he is usually considered a hopeless case, and must be destroyed. These horses and those which are killed outright, are thrown to one side, during an engagement, and buried after."

"In the hospitals, cases are divided into contagious and non-contagious. The hospitals are absolutely modern in every respect. Great care is taken to avoid putting the horses to undue pain. Stimulants are seldom operated on without chloroform. To date only 10 percent of the Canadian horses at the front have succumbed and very few of these died from disease. Most of them are killed in battle."

"Doctoring a horse is no simple matter. There are over four hundred diseases to which a horse is subject, and it is very difficult to diagnose his case. The Canadian veterinarians show great skill in this respect. They use active principal drugs and they have also developed to a high degree the use of serums."

"It is interesting to note the war horses' diet: They are fed three times a day and get an allowance of eight pounds of hay, twelve pounds of oat, eight pounds of straw, or in lieu of this, four pounds extra hay and two pounds oats, or any other fodder procurable of equal food value, such as sugar beet, vegetables, etc. The Canadian horses are rolling in fat since they have been in France."

PUBLIC SUBSCRIBES MORE HEAD MONEY FOR TONY MARTIN

George H. Davey, North Pearl Street, Circulates Petition to Secure Additional Reward Money.

Citizens of Janesville are becoming aroused over the failure to apprehend Tony Martin for the murder of Maude May Lawrence, aged 14 years, a week ago today, and a reward of over two hundred dollars is now offered for the arrest of the Sicilian. George H. Davey, 441 North Pearl street, today is circulating a subscription list among the citizens for an additional reward to the hundred dollars offered by A. G. Metzinger. The list this morning showed a total offer of $115 and a larger amount is expected.

The conditions of the reward are the same as those attached to the offer of Mr. Metzinger. Anyone giving information that will lead to the arrest of Martin is eligible for the money. It is expected that at least three hundred dollars will be offered by Saturday. With this amount placed upon the head of the alleged murderer, results may be expected.

The facts developing during the last two days all go to show that Martin is, or at least was, in Chicago. There is not much doubt that Martin was in Beloit Friday night, after shooting down the school girl at the Webster school grounds. It is thought he stayed in hiding in Beloit Friday night and possibly Saturday. Janesville police have been informed as assured fact whether Martin spent Friday night at the Branigan hotel or not. All evidence points that it was he who obtained a room at this hotel and left early Saturday morning.

The police now have a report from the crew of a Northwestern freight train, which tends to convince them that Martin escaped from Beloit safely and "beat" his way to Chicago. The engine crew of the freight train from here that passed through Beloit Sunday, two days after the murder, report that an Italian got off the tender of the train at Brookline Junction, a suburb of Chicago. At this junction nearly all transients leave trains to go into Chicago. The engine state that the Italian was a hinged description except that he was attired in an overcoat instead of a grey Norfolk coat. No attempt was made by the trainmen to apprehend him, but the fact that they knew of the murder.

P. D. Champion, chief of police, this morning stated that he had given full information of all facts to the Chicago bureau of detectives and hoped to hear favorable reports from them in the near future. He said he was powerless to do any good in Chicago in the Italian district. Not knowing the conditions or the language of the state, he would not attempt to have an officer go there from here, said the chief. "I was promised by the Chicago detectives that their best men would be placed on the case and the offering of the large reward should have an influence for diligent work."

Because the city and county have no funds set aside for the offering of a reward, neither can add to the money already offered by private citizens.

WINNERS OF CONTEST EAT TURKEY DINNER

Boys' Membership Campaign Closed Last Night—Winners Eat Turkey and Losers Beans.

Last night marked the closing banquet of the membership campaign which has been conducted by the boys of the boys' department of the Young Men's Christian Association for the last two months. The contest was divided into two teams, the Reds and the Blues. The two teams had a large number of new members were due to the fact that the city had been covered by the intensely contest.

The boys' contest ended with the addition of sixteen new members, which swelled the total membership of the boys' department to the grand total of three hundred and seventy-six. This makes the Janesville association have the second largest boys' department in the state of Wisconsin.

The Blue team scored the largest number of points in the event, thus winning the turkey dinner, which was up for a prize. They brought nine new members into the association, scoring thirty-one and a half points. The Reds secured eight new members but only scored ten points. The boys, the third lieutenant of the Reds, secured the most members by himself and has the trip to Madison to witness the Wisconsin football game. In a short speech he said that he enjoyed his trip to Madison and now he was willing to eat beans.

Other members of the teams gave short talks after the dinner. Rev. Francis Brigham was present at the dinner and he gave a short talk to the boys. President Frank Barnes, Secretary Benjamin Floyd Drake and H. J. Center also gave short addresses, praising the boys on the good they had done. A similar campaign will be held next year and all the boys voted to work hard so that they could all eat turkey at the finish.

BASEBALL LEADERS SEEK A PEACE PACT

Magnates of Four Leagues Begin Conference Which May Result in Complete Reorganization.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
New York, Dec. 17.—Officials of club owners of the National, American, Federal and International Leagues met here today for a peace conference which may end the war between organized baseball and the independent and determine the standing of the game throughout big league territory for many years. The conference is regarded as most important ever held in baseball history and should have result, it is expected, in a complete reorganization affecting several of the most prominent clubs in two major leagues, notably the American league club in New York and Chicago.

POPE CONTINUES EFFORTS FOR PEACE

Pope Benedict XV continues his labors to restore peace, despite the gloomy outlook for the close of hostilities in the near future. The pope has labored constantly since the war started to bring it to an end, but thus far his efforts have been utterly without result.

NO. 90 ODD FELLOWS MAKE PRIZE CAKES

Some Talk Today of Sending One of Premier Culinary Exhibits to Ford for Xmas.

About one hundred and twenty-five attended the oyster supper given by the members of Janesville City Lodge No. 90 I. O. O. F., at their rooms on West Milwaukee street last evening. The affair was a decided success and proved a novel entertainment in that the male members of the fraternal organization were bound to cook and prepare all the food for the supper, which was in honor of the Rebekah Lodge No. 171.

It was truly said that the stronger sex did not slight the cook's task. ## ELECT OSHKOSH MAN TO WALES POSITION

Dr. Frank Brockway Named by Board of Control to Succeed Dr. Norman Hoffman.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Madison, Wis., Dec. 17.—Dr. Frank Brockway, Oshkosh, was elected superintendent of the state tuberculosis sanatorium at Wales by the state board of control Thursday night.

He was the only candidate before the board, according to members, and his election followed a short conference with him. He will take charge of the institution just as soon as he can close up his affairs in Oshkosh and this is not expected to take longer than Jan. 1.

Dr. Norman Hoffman, deposed superintendent, has retained Asward & Olbrich, the Madison attorneys who succeeded in keeping Herman L. Uken in office as insurance commissioner when Gov. McGovern attempted to oust him, to represent him. Mr. Olbrich, who is handling the case, declines to discuss what moves are contemplated.

ABYSSINIA OFFERS TROOPS TO ALLIES

Youthful Ruler Offers Two Hundred Thousand Soldiers to the Entente Nations.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Paris, Dec. 17.—Lidj Jassou, the young Emperor of Abyssinia, is so favorably disposed toward the entente allies that he not only resisted efforts of German agents to induce him to abrogate treaties with Great Britain, Italy and France last year, but offered 200,000 soldiers to be used by the allies as their military necessities demanded, according to Pierre Aloye, a member of the colonial committee of the chamber of deputies. Mr. Aloye made this assertion in connection with the resolution now before the foreign affairs and colonial committees of the chamber, offered by a colored deputy from Guadeloupe, that the French government in accord with allies of France, is seeking immediately the means of securing the operation of Abyssinian troops under guarantee of independence of that country.

AMBASSADOR TO CHILE TRANSFERRED TO MEXICO

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 17.—Henry Prather Fletcher, now ambassador to Chile, was nominated by President Wilson today for Ambassador to Mexico. Eliseo Arredondo already has been appointed Mexican ambassador to the United States and Mr. Fletcher's nomination today restores diplomatic relations between these two countries, broken off nearly three years ago.

VIENNA NOTE IS DEBATED BY CABINET

AUSTRIA'S REPLY IS FOUND TO BE ENTIRELY DISSATISFACTORY AND EVASIVE.

MAY REPEAT DEMANDS

United States May Send Second Note Reiterating Firm Stand Already Taken.—See Chance Yet to Avoid Break.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 17.—Austria's reply to the Ancona note was received at the state department during the night, and early today was being decoded to be laid before President Wilson and Secretary Lansing.

A dispatch from Ambassador Penfield, evidently delayed in transmission, was received just ahead of the note. It said the reply had been delivered to him by the Vienna foreign office Wednesday at noon and he had immediately forwarded it to Washington.

The note as received here is about a thousand words long. The translators were put to work at once to have the text ready in time for Secretary Lansing to take to cabinet meeting at 11 o'clock.

Cabinet Ponders Reply.
Austria's reply was laid before President Wilson and the cabinet today and discussed for more than an hour. The gravity of the situation caused by Austria's rejoinder to American demands, which is considered evasive, unsatisfactory and unacceptable, remained unchanged.

The next step will not be decided upon until some minor points not clear in the official text are checked up. The apparent discrepancies are not important and may be due to transmission and translation, and they will be cleared up before another move is made. Secretary Lansing said after the cabinet meeting that he did not know when the official text of the note would be given out for publication.

Diplomatic relations, although in danger of being broken off, are not likely to be discontinued at least before there has been another exchange of notes, and so the crisis may be said not to be in its final stage.

Means Another Note.
Another note setting out why the United States cannot accept Austria's reply will go forward before the situation takes on a more settled aspect. Meanwhile, there are some opportunities for a settlement of informal negotiations which might smooth out the situation. The frequent calls of Baron Zweidnek, the Austrian chargé, to the state department, gave some color to discussion along this line. Some count on the influence of Berlin to counsel Vienna to avoid a break.

So far as was apparent today the situation has not affected President Wilson's plan for taking on his honeymoon journey after his wedding tomorrow night.

Predicts Diplomatic Break.
Paris, Dec. 17.—"We shall be very much astonished if the American government does not reply to the Austrian note by simply instructing Ambassador Penfield to ask for his passports and by handing his passport to the Austrian charge at Washington," says the Figaro. "The Austrian answer is a barely disguised refusal."

VOTE TO CONTINUE EMERGENCY REVENUE

House Passes Resolution 205 to 189.—Expect Senate Action Before Tomorrow Night.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Dec. 17.—The joint resolution extending the emergency revenue tax until December 31, 1916, following its passage in the house last night by a vote of 205 to 189, was taken to the senate today, where its adoption is expected before tomorrow night.

SUSPECT IN BRASS THEFT RELEASED BY THE POLICE

After an examination, Chief of Police Champion turned loose a young man of this city who was taken into custody recently as a suspect of the theft of brass at the Crystal Springs bottling plant on December seventh. The young man was questioned for a considerable time, but no evidence was obtained that he was implicated in the robbery.

HEART ATTACK FATAL AT HOME OF HIS SON

Emery Snyder, Old Resident of City, Drops Dead at Residence on Highland Ave. Today.

Emery Snyder, age seventy years, succumbed to an attack of heart failure at 7:45 o'clock this morning in the kitchen at the home of his son, Claude E. Snyder, 1618 Highland avenue. He was discovered by his wife a few moments after falling to the floor.

Emery Snyder was born in Herkimer county, New York, May 2, 1846. He came to Janesville in 1888 and since that time has been a resident of the city. He was married twice and is survived by his second wife and one son by the first wife, Claude E. Snyder.

REMEMBER THE POOR.

At this time of the year remember those who are not as fortunate as you are. Think of their sufferings and privations in planning for your own Christmas and put aside a portion for the work that is being done among them. The Associated Charities is deserving of the support of the citizens generally. It is not only an appeal for a few individuals but a general appeal for the whole year. The men and women who are taking part in this glorious work are unselfish in their efforts and they should be aided materially. The call has been made for new toys and money for the Christmas baskets. The Salvation Army, the Eagles, the Elks and other organizations are doing their share, all working for one common end and all laboring so as not to conflict. Leave your contribution for the Associated Charities at the Gazette office that the committee may know how much to count on as soon as possible.

THE CHRISTMAS TREE.

An occasional and pleasing sight at this time of year is the fat car on the railroad lines loaded with a green and odoriferous load of little Christmas trees. Many of the economists deplore the folly of land-owners in the evergreen tree districts for selling their young trees for the few cents apiece that can be obtained for them for this purpose. There probably is no way to handle them so as to make raising these trees a profitable crop at present prices. The labor of cutting them can't be much. But they have to be handled with care, to save the branches and foliage from breakage. They are bulky to transport, and the freightage and truckage charges must be very high for the weight.

A Christmas tree all adorned and lighted gives an air of festivity and suggestion of outdoor beauty obtained in no other way. The people will always demand them, and farmers have them up for ready cash will always sell them, even to their own disadvantage in the long run. After the farmers all become scientific, no doubt they will cultivate these little spruces and first for this purpose more systematically and get higher prices for them. But even a very little evergreen tree can give the traditional suggestion of holiday revelry.

Some of the people who bought newspapers containing the president's message may not have been looking so much for his views on preparedness, as to learn what Mrs. Galt wore while sitting in the gallery.

There are still some of our friends who believe that an invading army with modern guns should be met with a force armed with sweet smiles and a battery of condemned civil war cannon.

There is a widespread belief that dad wants for Christmas some fancy work with a lot of ribbons and silk embroidery, when what he really desires is a good, neat and serviceable negligee shirt.

As the style-makers have decreed short skirts again there are some of the girls who must economize on cost and spend ten cents on a box of shoe blacking.

Strange to say Henry Ford did not take on his trip to Europe any representatives of either the grammar schools, the primary schools, or the kindergartens.

If the war goes on, gasoline will go up on account of the demand for it for army use, and if it stops gasoline will go up because it is wanted for peace uses.

It is to be feared that the ventilating experts who built the capital building at Washington never foresaw the amount of hot air that would be emitted therefrom beginning now.

When a man gives his wife a deed of his real estate it may not be so much the desire to give her a Christmas present, as to get his property where his creditors can't levy on it.

Now that the Congressional Record will be coming around, a fellow can always know how he can get some calm and refreshing slumber evenings in the living room easy chair.

So far there has been no outburst of popular demand for any unusual precautions to be taken on the ships that carry Captains Boy-Ed and Von Papen home.

If military training is put into the colleges, some study periods will have to be given up, but it is not likely that there will be any less baseball practice.

After talking about the extravagance of the age, a good many men go down to the garage and order their 1915 machine exchanged for a 1916 model.

The popular Christmas present is not so much one that is beautiful or useful as the one that looks as if it cost a good deal of money.

There is a movement in many of the large cities to have automobiles forbidden from running over sixty miles an hour through crowded streets.

Henry Ford is called the "Angel of Peace," which is correct in the sense that his trip in the Ark has already cost him nearly $100,000.

The acceptable Christmas gift to most people is the inexpensive one, that won't require a costly return next year.

Miss Frances Eller is home from Stout Institute, Menomonie, Wis., to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Eller, Linu street.

ADAM N. EVE.

Efforts made to locate the descendants to learn what finally became of Private Adam N. Eve, United States Marine Corps, who deserted January 13, 1911, from the command of Captain Anthony Gale at Philadelphia, Pa., have so far been unavailing.

Probably beat it back to the Garden of Eden, facetiously wrote an Ohio Eve.

"Still raising Cain somewhere, no doubt," replied a member of the Texas branch who also disclaimed kinship with the original Adam.

"Growing apples in Oregon," I know him well," was the response from another Eve who was probably mistaken.

And now the governments agents directing the search, are of the opinion that certain points in the interrupted military career of Private Adam N. Eve, United States Marine Corps, must remain forever cloaked in mystery.

The Lack of Reported Injuries at Noon Seemed to Indicate She Liked It.

"Watch your step."

Because if you don't, you are likely to recline upon the very hard and resisting sidewalks, with several bumps on your head, bruises and sores on other vulnerable spots of your body.

An injured spirit and a vocabulary of words desiring to burn the air in expressing your deplorable mental conditions.

Janesville's streets, walks and byways were all converted into skating rinks last night when a slight mist fell and then froze tight. Walkers were gliding little better.

To venture forth last evening was to risk life and limb, and most likely the final result was at least one very humiliating sprawl upon the walk.

Because of the dusk not much attention was paid to preparing the sidewalks for pedestrians last night on the downtown streets.

The people who were unfortunate enough to be without rubbers or protection of some kind experienced disaster in attempting to travel any distance. It was a case of taking short steps, sliding twice the distance with prospects of alighting still further down the walk in a desecration that afforded much amusement to onlookers. It is an accepted fact that the sight of a falling person on a slippery walk is one of the funniest things imaginable. But the victim of the fall never sees anything that resembles comedy in the fall, and the more others laugh at his plight the more angry he gets. It is safe to say that if a person were to fall and break his neck, someone would "just have to" laugh.

Horses suffered from the precarious conditions as well as humans. Unless the horses were equipped with sharp-shod shoes studded with pro-

As Always, Just $1.00, and Worth More

No girl ever has too many waists—and a new one or two would always be welcome and greatly appreciated. In themselves, these Wirthmor Waists would make a most desirable Christmas gift, but packed as they are, in attractive holiday envelopes, with a Christmas greeting, they are particularly appropriate.
The styles are new and pretty and the waists are made just as all good waists should be made—that is, so as to afford the wearer lasting pleasure and satisfaction.

There's just a limited number to be placed on sale tomorrow.
When these are gone no more of the same styles can be obtained, as always, they are priced at just One Dollar.

W. C. SPARKS FAVORS PUTTING THE TRACTION WIRES ON BUILDINGS

W. C. Sparks, general manager of the Rockford & Interurban company, was in the city yesterday conferring with Mayor James A. Fithers in regard to a way of carrying the wires of the Janesville Traction company, since all poles have been ordered off
the business streets by May 1st, next.
Mr. Sparks informed the Janesville city officials that he desired the traction wires attached to the buildings in an acceptable manner and opposed the erection of small iron poles to carry the wires.

The traction company has prepared plans where contacts with buildings will be necessary and will submit them to the Commercial club. The club directors are to take up the matter of getting contracts with the property owners for allowing the wires to be attached to the buildings.

Janesville's third annual fair will be held during the second week of August, 1916. It will open on Tuesday, Aug. 8, and continue through Friday, Oct. 11.

Such is the decision of the board of directors after several months of attempts to secure a later date for the exhibit. This was impossible, however, without infringing on the rights of older established fairs, and rather than cause a conflict with other fair boards, the directors of the younger organization decided that they would, as during the past two years, open the fair bull rolling for the season.

The board has been in regular session almost weekly since elected at the meeting of the stockholders several months ago. They have arranged elaborate plans for next year and are out to compete with former fairs.
There are only going to be four fair days next year as against five of this year. Numerous conditions which arose at the past fair will thus be eliminated, rather than Saturday.

State Aid Money.
State aid money amounting to $2,500 will be received in March. At the present time Secretary Harry O.
Nowlan and Treasurer Frank P.
Croak are going over the premium reports of last year and expect to go to Madison shortly to check these over in company with state officers so as to eliminate any delay in securing the money from the state.

Delinquent subscribers to fair stock who signed to take a share on block and who have not to date made payment, are being given attention by the board at the present time and at the meeting next week a matter of special business will come up with the point in view to secure payment from those men in arrears.

At the last annual meeting the stockholders instructed the new board to secure payment of all unpaid stock subscriptions and even went so far as to further instruct the directors that if legal procedures were necessary to complete the contracts, to and recourse in the law. At the present time a few men who signed the subscription papers, when approached by a member of the board with the idea of closing up the account, simply laughed and intimated that they only placed their names on the subscription blanks "to help you out and get somebody else." The theory is all right, a board member today held out, "pragmatically," to slip the paper does not pay bills, he said. The meeting next will be an attempt to find some method of securing the subscribed money without taking legal action, although it has been intimated that such course is possible, unless the guarantors adhere to their contracts.

Big Premium List.

Work on the premium list will be opened shortly after the advent of the new year. Dr. W. A. Munro, as year, is head of this committee. The Janesville fair's premium list of 1915, insofar as concerns regarding make-up was concerned, was the first of its kind ever compiled by the fair board and from the amount of comment to which it was subjected when other fair boards saw it, it is an assured fact that a large number of Wisconsin fairs next year will follow similar ideas.

The book this year was a complete dictionary for the farmer—in itself, it contained indispensable information regarding breeders of stock—
cattle, swine, sheep, horses, chickens, etc. The make-up was such that advertisements of the various breeders were placed directly opposite the list of premiums for the various respective exhibits. The farmers liked the idea, it found favor with the exhibitors and also with the public. The 1916 premium list will be printed after the same manner. Considerable advertising matter has already been secured. Much of it was contracted for at the time of the last fair.
Expect Much Stock.

Already a big stock exhibit is secured. This has been solely possible and due to the excellent treatment afforded exhibitors during the last two years of the fair. At the close this year the stockmen were highly elated at the treatment they and their exhibits had received and every one promised to be back in 1916. The little accommodations which the board went to, to give everybody the best of care and attention is sure to be returned in the conveyance devices and general layout was excellent and many exhibitors expressed the opinion that the local accommodations were far ahead of any fair ever visited.

The board is starting early to secure the judges for the various departments. It is planned to secure men who are nationally prominent in their departments to make the different awards. An attempt will be made this year to again secure Hugh Van Pelt, editor of Kinnball's Dairyman, of Waterloo, Ia., to supervise the judging of the dairy breed cattle.
Mr. Van Pelt is perhaps the best known judge of dairy cattle in the United States and during the fair season is continually on the road.
The board of last year were particularly anxious to secure his services and are planning on writing him early this year to have their fair date reserved.

An incident is told of a farmer east of town who was finally prevailed upon to bring his cattle to the fair after refusing numerous requests from the start. He brought three head and when he took them home, after being judged by Mr. Van Pelt, one of the three wore a blue ribbon of first award in its class and the others
second and third honors.

This fact is pointed out by the board to show farmers hereabouts that they really do not realize the grade of cattle they have, and to induce them to show their stock at the fair next year.

Many inquiries have been received to date regarding the fair next year from farmers and others. The farmers are anxious to see the fair and they must have their cattle fit to participate in the competition for honors.

Amusement concerns, stand proprietors, etc., have inquired regarding the fair. The present board lists year are going to do everything in their power to keep the Midway rid-of the undesirable and no show or exhibit of a shady nature will be allowed. The grounds will be policed as last year.

DONE A GOOD THING? TELL IT TO JUDGE

Because If You Have Not Done One Single Thing You Are Marked for Thirty Days.

"Show me just one thing that you have ever done in your life that is really worthy and good, and I'll let you go." This was the offer that Judge H. L. Maxwell made to John Hatch, a transient, when the latter was arraigned in the municipal court this morning on the charge of drunkenness.
Hatch thought a while. He pondered long and hard, for he most certainly wanted his freedom so as not to have to spend Christmas in the county jail. The more he thought, the more he was up against it. He had worked a little during his lifetime of forty-nine years. The court pointed out that he had "not a red cent" to show for the years of labor, and Hatch could not point out a single worthy thing that he had done to secure his freedom.

His sentence was a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs of thirty days, and the thirty days was what Hatch had to take.
"That's a little strong, yer honor, can't you put it down a little bit," pleaded Hatch. "You need something strong," said the court.

Home Baking Reduces Cost of Living

THE U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in Experiment Station Bulletin
No. 142 says that ten cents worth of wheat supplies almost three times as much protein and ten times as much energy as round steak, and with some other cuts of meat the difference is even greater.

If then, one really desires to reduce her weekly meat and grocery bills, she need only make more use of her oven.

Who ever heard man, woman or child complain that good home-made biscuits, muffins, cake and cookies appeared on the table too often? Instead the tendency is "to make a meal of them" and the variety is so great that something you bake yourself could well be the chief feature of every meal.

Home Baking is Simplified by the Use of K C Baking Powder

With K C, you can make things moist and rich yet have them light and feathery, wholesome and digestible. Biscuits may be mixed the night before and baked fresh for breakfast. Muffins need not be baked in the morning. You can make a cake so light that you can hardly get it out of the pan whole, yet it will not fall.

K C is not like the old fashioned baking powder. It is double acting and continues to give off leavening gas until the dough is cooked through. K C is sold at a fair price—a large can for 25 cents. This could be no object if strength and purity were sacrificed, but every can is fully guaranteed under State and National Pure Food laws and to please. We take all the chances. Your money back if you do not get better results with K C than any baking powder you ever used.

Include a can in your next grocery order, try some of the new recipes that appear in this paper from time to time. Then you will have gone far toward solving this vexing "Cost of Living" problem.

Notes.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
New York, Dec. 17.—Bids for the light-weight championship fight between Freddie Welsh and Charlie
White were not opened here today.
There were no bids at William H.
Cousins, where articles of agreement for the fight were signed and bids were to be received. It was said an eagle eye was being kept for offers, but none had yet appeared in the mails.

Now It's Tommy.
St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 17.—Tommy Gibbons, brother of the champion
Mike, is planning to force his recognition in the middleweight class of fighters by challenging all comers after the first of the year. Tommy is now attempting to arrange a match with Joe Chip at Dayton, Ohio. Chip wants him to make 155 at 3 o'clock, but Tommy is holding out for 158. A bout between Tommy and Bob Moha at Milwaukee is being planned.

How Did He Do It.
Akron, O., Dec. 16.—The twelve round fight between Lightweight Champion Freddie Welsh and Johnny Griffin of Akron scheduled for next Tuesday night was postponed today.
Harry Pollok wired that Welsh had sprained his wrist.

Windsor, Ont., Dec. 17.—Johnny Prendergast, the Detroit featherweight, quit before the attack of "Knockout" Ginley of Cleveland last night, and Ginley won in ten rounds by a wide margin. The other round of the double window Johnny Downs of Cleveland and Paul Mathea, Detroit, boxed ten rounds to a draw.

Pal Moore to Box.
Charlottesville, Dec. 16.—
Young Pal Moore of Memphis and Young Goldman of Cincinnati signed article today to fight eight rounds before Joe Levy's club Wednesday night. Both are bantams.

"ON TRIAL" A DISTINCT DRAMATIC SENSATION

Cohan & Harris Production of Elmer Reizenstein's Story "On Trial" Plays to Large House at Myers Last Evening.

All who could have seen "On Trial" at Myers Theatre last evening and missed it should blame themselves for having missed one of the greatest successes ever seen in this city.

The novelty of "On Trial" is found in the fact that it is written backward, the third act unfolding story that occurred in the first act. It has been suggested that no dramatist would have dared to play tricks with an audience as is done in "On Trial," and that the motion picture play which shifts its scenes here and there and everywhere gave Mr. Reizenstein his idea. Be that as it may, the fact remains that "On Trial" is the most tremendous play sensation ever presented to a Janesville audience.

In order to understand the success of "On Trial" it is necessary to be told something of its mechanical cleverness and its structural unusualness.
The main story deals with a murder trial wherein the jury is put in possession of the facts leading up to the crime. The circumstantial evidence is marshaled before the jury and at the same time before the audience.
Witnesses were called into the box and in the midst of their evidence one by one the scenes are changed and the story telling to the jury is acced before the audience. The dead man's widow, who was present when the crime was committed, starts to tell her story; suddenly the theatre is plunged into darkness and in the twinkling of an eye, the lights go up and the story of the murder is enacted on the transformed stage. This occurs not once but a number of times until the witnesses have become exhausted, when the scene is again transformed to the court room and the jury brings in a verdict of "Not Guilty."
The company presenting "On Trial" were admirably cast for their respective parts. Charles Darrah appeared to excellent advantage as the defendant. Miss Florence Moore was sweet and winsome as his daughter, Bertha Watson portrayed a difficult part as his wife, Wescott Clarke showed himself to be a finished actor as the dead man's Alce Phillips displayed a rare ability as his widow. F.
J. Roloff and Harry West deserve special mention for the way they carried their parts, the district attorney and the defendant's counsel respectively.

All Star Cast in "Judge Not" Tonight.
Four stars play the principal roles in "Judge Not," the Universal six-act photodramatic version of Peter B.
Kynne's famous story which comes to the Princess Theatre tonight. The cast is headed by Julia Dean, who is now starring in the legitimate play,
"The Law of the Land." Miss Dean is supported by the sterling character actor, star of "Just Jim," Harry D.
Carey. Marc Robbins and Harry Car-

EXPLAINS VALUE OF MUCH NEEDED MAN FOR COUNTY WORK

Local High School Agriculture Teacher Shows Need of Such a Helper for the Farmers.

(Allen B. West)

The writer had an opportunity some months since to interview the agricultural representative of Walworth county as to the work he was doing in our neighboring county.

"Along what line," I asked, "are you receiving the largest number of calls for help?" His answer was prompt: "Just now I have the greatest number of calls with reference to alfalfa. They come from farmers who have tried raising it and have failed, and from those who are planning to raise it and are not quite sure how to proceed."

He then added: "I've had a number of calls I could not answer because they are not in my territory. They were in Rock county, just across the line."

"Can Rock county farmers afford to pay taxes sufficient to hire a man to aid them in raising alfalfa? Taxes are already high, and it does not seem wise to put any larger tax on the land unless it shall result in a greater income. Let us figure a little. The sum of $4,400 has been named as being ample to put a county agent in the field. Of this the United States under the provisions of the Smith-Lever bill will pay $1,300 if the county raises that the state the balance of $3,100. The business men of Beloit and Janesville $1,000. Of the tax of $1,200 there to be raised by the county the cities and villages pay about half. This leaves $600 for the county agent to pay. How many acres of alfalfa will it take to pay this bill? Suppose we estimate $24 per acre as the net profit from an acre of alfalfa. This is much smaller than the estimate given by successful dairymen of the county who are feeding alfalfa to their stock, but it is best to be moderate in estimating this. Twenty-five acres of alfalfa at $24 per acre would pay all the agricultural agent would cost Rock county in taxes, and only one-half of that is paid by the farmers. But why pay it if we can get it for nothing? The writer has shown that while Rock county will grow as good crops of alfalfa as almost any other county in the state, the average farmer has not yet learned how to do it. The writer has tested the soil on a number of farms where attempts at growing alfalfa were made which ended in failure, on account of acid soil. In such cases the farmer explaining his failure in some other way, was about to repeat the blunder by sowing again.

Other farmers after trying one or two years have given up, and alfalfa would not grow on their farms. Most of the prairie soil that has been cropped for a series of years is acid. The farmers finding it producing good crops of corn and other grains are most of them confident that it is not acid. They sow alfalfa and fail. Had a county agent been available he would in a very few minutes have been able to show the farmer that his soil was acid, and so save that man a season's crop as well as seed at $13 or $14 per bushel. Or, the soil may be all right, but after the alfalfa has six inches high it begins to blight. The farmer, inexperienced in raising this crop, does not know what to do, and loses the stand. Had a county representative been at hand he would have advised the farmer to cut the alfalfa at once and so save the piece, for the next time it would come on all right, when if left standing the whole plant becomes infected and dies. Or, it may be that the farmer does not understand the proper preparation of the ground for this crop, or the kind of ground best adapted to its growth. It is the business of the county agent to know those things and to come at the farmers' call when wanted. There are in Rock county over 4,000 farms. There should then be at a moderate estimate at least 40,000 acres of alfalfa in the county, or an average of ten acres to a farm. Should this condition be brought about the wealth of the farms would be very greatly increased. The growth is on the increase and many farmers who have not raised it previously are planning to put it in this coming year. A good county agent would save much valuable time and material in this one line alone.

Langlade county representative, P. G. Swoboda, has been helping the farmers of that county along this line. Wood ashes are plentiful in the county and may be had for the hauling and are being used instead of lime to correct soil acidity. On one farm three cuttings averaging 3 1/2 tons to the acre were made.

Other counties show increased acreage in this valuable crop as a result of the work of the county representative.

Orfordville News

Orfordville, Dec. 16.—B. L. Taylor, who several weeks ago met with a severe accident while he was coming to the house since, has been confined to the house since Thursday.

Charles Onsager, who is at Mercy hospital, where he recently underwent an operation, is reported as doing well and his many friends are hopeful of his speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hanson are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter that came to their home on the twelfth inst. Mother and daughter are reported as doing well.

Next Sunday Rev. Samuel Lugg, father of James T. Lugg, the pastor, will occupy the pulpit of the M. E. church both morning and evening. Communion service will be held in connection with the service of the morning. Rev. Lugg was pastor at Orfordville between forty and fifty years ago, and was also presiding elder of the Janesville district about twenty-five years ago. Many of his old time friends will be glad to have an opportunity of listening to him at this time.

A daughter came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Grenawalt on Sunday. The happy parents are receiving the congratulations of friends and the daughter is well and happy.

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth, Dec. 16.—Messrs. Melvin Chipman and son, Roy, George Cator and Charley Wells of Footville, spent last Friday at Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zebell's on a hunting trip.

Lewis Rummage of Broadhead, was the guest of relatives and friends in the vicinity a part of last week.

On next Wednesday evening, Dec. 22, Mr. Murphy, the pastor of the No. 10 church, will give a Christmas tree and basket social at the M. E. church, to which all are cordially invited. A fine program is being prepared for the occasion.

Joseph Rayburn spent from Friday until Monday with relatives at Janesville and La Prairie.

Ed. Zebell went to Beloit the first of last week to work in the Berlin Works.

Little Miss Mildred Horkey spent from Sunday until Thursday with her grandmother, Mrs. Caver, of Janesville.

Floyd Balch entertained Leslie Ehringer of Hanover last Friday night and Saturday.

On Sunday afternoon Rev. James T. Lugg's father, Rev. Samuel Lugg of Whitewater, will conduct the services at the M. E. church. Rev. Lugg preached at Orfordville and Plymouth charges forty-seven years ago. He is now a man of eighty-eight years. At this service communion and baptism will be administered and members will be taken in the church. Sunday evening is the night for evening service, but on account of the long service in the afternoon no evening service will be held. A cordial invitation is extended for everyone to be present at this service. A Christmas tree and program will be given at the M. E. church Christmas eve. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend.

START COLONIZATION OF SAN BLAS IN PANAMA "THE FORBIDDEN COAST"

Panama, Dec. 17.—A start in the colonization of the San Blas, or "Forbidden," coast of Panama has been made in conformity with recent agreements between the United States and the government of the republic. President Ferras had granted a concession to James M. Hyatt, an American of Colon, to establish a large farming colony on the shores of Mandinga Bay, about fifty miles east of Colon.

The contract grants Mr. Hyatt thirty hectares of land on which the new town is to be built. Immediately adjacent to the town site, there are 5,000 hectares, or 12,500 acres, of good agricultural lands that will be sold to the colonists at a very reasonable price. This is to be sold in ten and twenty hectare tracts at prices fixed by the government. The town lots are to be sold under the same conditions.

The land is located on the western edge of the "forbidden coast" and lies along the shores of Mandinga Bay, where the San Blas Indians are the most friendly to foreigners. The farm lands are in the valley of the Mandi river and are said to be very rich and fertile.

This will be the first serious effort to open this coast to settlement by foreigners. It has been closed since the early Spanish conquest. The San Blas Indians having consistently resisted the intrusion of all foreigners.

EXPLAINS ILLINOIS COUNTY AGENT PLAN; BACKED BY FARMERS

Letter From Supervisor of Farm Agent Work Tells How Farmers Themselves Provide for Expert.

George Woodruff of this city has taken sufficient interest in the proposed farm agent for Rock county to write to the supervisor of this activity in Illinois for information on the Illinois plan. A reply received from W. F. Handschin at Urbana, Ill., gives the details of the system which provides that the farmers themselves must form an association and provide for the salary and expenses of the agent out of annual dues, instead of paying them out of the county treasury as the Wisconsin law provides.

The secret of the success of the Illinois plan, Mr. Woodruff intimates, may be due to the fact that the agent can be secured only in such counties where the farmers show sufficient interest to form an association to back the proposition with their money and active support. Mr. Handschin's letter follows:

Urbana, Illinois, December 11, 1915.

Mr. George Woodruff,

Janesville, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir:—You order the 9th instant is at hand. For your information regarding the method of procedure in carrying on our county farm agent work I will say that this work is not undertaken in any county where a local association has been formed. This must be representative of the farmers of the county and have from 300 to 400 members who pledge themselves to support the work for a period of three years. The membership fee ranges from $2.50 to $10 annually for each member. The plan in most counties is based on the 10 member ship. In addition to this $12,000 from the United States Department of Agriculture through the Smith-Lever funds are put into the salary of the county agent each year. We prefer to apply this on salaries in order to avoid the difficulty of accounting for miscellaneous expenditures.

In some particular counties the county board appropriates money to support the work. These appropriations may be up to $5,000. Only one county is appropriating this amount, however. The others are appropriating $1,000 to $3,000. The county boards, however, have no county board appropriation, although the tendency is in the direction of some public support.

The usual selection of the county advisor is made always by the representatives of the local association. The university has a committee which takes the qualifications of the advisors and our office recommends only men who are approved by this committee. Our usual practice is to recommend four or five men whose qualifications are given in the work in the particular county under consideration. If the local association does not select one of these we try to find additional suitable candidates.

The county boards are essentially three: First, that the man have had actual farm experience since maturity; second, that he be a graduate of a recognized college of agriculture; and third, that he have had, since graduation, five years of successful experience in some line of agricultural work.

We appreciate that these requirements are unusually high. Because of these we are compelled to pay considerably higher salaries than most other states are paying, but we feel that only the very best men available are capable of handling this work satisfactorily. Our experience in carrying on this work over a period of more than three years indicates that our standards are none too high.

We have now nineteen counties working and others will be taken on as rapidly as the local communities can get ready and satisfactory men can be found to take up the work.

One feature which is especially emphasized in all of this work is that the local community must take the initiative to a considerable extent and must take most of the responsibility. This we feel is necessary if the work is to be permanently successful. We look upon our office as mainly to give general administrative supervision and act as a clearing house between the different counties and all other institutions doing work of this kind. Upon our office as mainly to give our general plan clear to you.

I am,

Yours very respectfully,

State Leader County Agent Work, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

MANY NEW SCHOOLS ERECTED IN STATE

Three Hundred New Rural Schools Built Within Last Three Years Superintendent Cary Reports.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Dec. 17.—Building activities among the rural schools of the state have been active in recent years, according to a report just announced by State Superintendent C. P. Cary. During the past three years over 300 new school buildings have been erected in Wisconsin and plans for many additional ones have been approved.

Oxford on Jan. 1 go into a fine high school and district school building that has cost $20,000. Four districts in the town of Buena Vista, Portage county, have voted to consolidate and a $3,000 building will be erected next year. A new $15,000 fireproof school building is nearing completion at Cornell and will be ready for occupancy Jan. 1. This, however, is only part of a plan for a $40,000 school building to be constructed later when the needs of additional room is demonstrated.

The Cuba City school building will cost about $22,000 and will be ready for occupancy within two weeks. In Rusk county much school building activity is under way. A solid brick high school building is nearly completed at Weyerhaeuser. It will cost $25,000. A two room brick rural school house has just been completed in Washington township. In Rusk county and two other rural school buildings will be erected soon. It now seems probable that a new high school building will be erected at Glen Flora.

The state commissioners of Appleton have offered to the local industrial board $50,000 and a site for the continuation schools of that city. This will insure the proper housing of the continuation schools.

GAINVILLE CENTER

Gainville Center, Dec. 16.—There will be a Christmas program and a candy box social at the Gainville school house Tuesday evening, December 21st, given by the pupils and teacher, Miss Nellie Gair. The ladies are requested to bring boxes of candy. Every one is most cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Harvey returned from their European tour of duty and report a fine trip. They were visitors Tuesday at George Townsend's.

Miss Vera Dowse and pupils of the Bog school will have a Christmas tree and appropriate exercises Wednesday evening, Dec. 22nd. They will also have a box social in connection with the above to which all are invited.

While Rev. E. G. Bird was in Evansville Sunday afternoon filling his appointment with the A. C. people preaching, some one took a plush robe from his car and drove it away.

Mr. and Mrs. Drummond are visiting at Leslie Townsend's.

PIONEER AMERICAN MISSIONARY WORKER IN JAPAN IS DEAD

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Tokio, Dec. 17.—The Reverend David Thompson, one of the pioneer American missionaries to Japan, died in November at his home in Tokio, only a few days after he had observed his eightieth birthday. For fifty-two years Dr. Thompson has labored in Japan as a missionary. He was the first Presbyterian mission worker sent to Japan by the American mission board of the Presbyterian church. Dr. Thompson was born in Ohio and was educated at Franklin College and at the Western Theological seminary of Pennsylvania. From 1873 to 1880 he served as a Chinese interpreter for the American legation in Tokio. He has done a great work throughout Japan as missionary and has had a share in the organization of a large number of native Presbyterian churches. He was a master of the Japanese language and preached in Japanese with extraordinary facility.

Dr. Thompson is survived by a widow and two daughters, one of whom is the wife of K. Caldwell, the American Consul at Vladivostok.

EXECUTE TWO MURDERERS AT NEW YORK PRISON TODAY

Ossining, N. Y., Dec. 17.—Worth Tooley of Athens, New York, and Ludwig Marquardt of Kingston, N. Y., murderers, were electrocuted at Sing Sing prison today. Tooley murdered John Hallendick at Athens last year. Marquardt killed Mrs. Nellie Paulis of Kingston.

Dinner Stories

School had begun and the class in history was in session.

"Now, Bobby," said the teacher, "by whom was the Declaration of Independence written?"

"Thomas Jefferson," said Bobby.

"Correct," said the teacher. "And now, Willie, you may tell me where it was signed?"

"Right at the bottom, ma'am," said Willie.

The cloakroom man at a large restaurant fell suddenly ill and a substitute took his place. The new man was told not to give out any coats or hats without proper identification, and so, when an old gentleman demanded his hat and explained that he had lost his check, there was a great deal on the part of the substitute.

"But that's my hat," the shabby, brown one," said the old gentleman. "It's got my initials in it—P. X. G."

The substitute looked inside the hat and, sure enough, the initials were there.

"Humph!" he said, suspiciously. "You might have seen these initials somewhere."

"But here they are on my shirt, too," said the old gentleman, unbuttoning his waistcoat. "See?" F. X. G.

"You might have stolen the shirt," said the substitute.

"Good heavens!" shouted the old gentleman, and he tore open his shirt and underwear. "Maybe this will satisfy you!" He, and he pointed to his letters F. X. G., tattooed on his breast in blue.

The substitute stared at the tattooing closely; then at last he handed over the hat. As he did so he said, reluctantly:

"Well, since Nature wrote those initials on your skin, I guess they must be yours for a fact."

WOMAN'S PAGE

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS. D. A. LEONARD

"Isn't it most time for that train?" asked John Smith, yawning, as he walked up and down the platform between one and two o'clock in the morning.

"It's past due, but no word has come as to when to expect it. The sleepy night operator rose to stretch and yawn, and the telegraph instrument buzzed incessantly, and the operator sprang to take the message. "God," he ejaculated, springing to his feet.

"What?" asked John. "There has been an awful accident. A head-on collision down the road here."

"An accident? Anybody killed?" "Well, I should say yes," exclaimed the young fellow. "There, they are calling me again."

"What did you learn?" His voice sounded strange to himself as he heard his question.

"There were three killed and about forty injured. It occurred about twenty-five miles this side of Kansas City. They have sent for a relief train from the city. He stopped. John stood there so white and still."

"Is there no way I can get there?" John asked.

"Get till the express at five in the morning, you know."

"I thought there might be a freight through. Can't you find out more about who was hurt and—?" He could not bring himself to say killed.

"It was the agent at the next station who called me. I will tell him you are waiting for news and ask him to pass on anything he hears," said the young sympathetically. "When I see you here waiting for news he'll tell you."

John sank into a seat and buried his face in his hands, then restlessly paced the floor.

"If only I could know. If I could get there!" he exclaimed, striding up and down the dingy room. When it was nearly four o'clock, he left the depot and hurried to Doctor Ellison's and rang the night bell. When he told him what had happened the doctor said:

"I'll go with you on the morning express. I may be needed."

"And Jack! Will you ask Mrs. Ellison to look after him till I come back. She is so kind. She will let Miss Travers know what has happened."

The two men were very silent all the way to the little station where the wreck had occurred. As they neared the place the tension was almost unbearable and John was at the last step ready to spring off as soon as the train slowed up. He had hardly struck the pavement when Molly rushed up to him and flung her arms around his neck, sobbing wildly.

"Oh, I hoped you would come," she cried. "Julia is dreadfully hurt. She is unconscious and they do not know how serious her injuries are. They have taken her to a hospital in Kansas City."

John could hardly speak, the reaction from the terrible strain was so great. "Here is the doctor, Molly," he said as she became more quiet.

"I believe I will go down to see how Miss Osmond is," said Dr. Ellison when he had assured himself that Molly was all right. "Good-bye," he called as he swung onto the train that was just moving off.

"Oh, John, I never was so glad to see you," exclaimed Molly as they were seated in the train to go back to Fairport.

"What do you think about my being glad to see you, when I did not know whether I should ever see you alive again?" asked her husband. (To be continued.)

IS INGENUE IN BIG SUFFRAGE PAGEANT

Henrietta Forrest.

Miss Henrietta Forrest, four and one-half years old, was the leading "ingenue" in the Susan B. Anthony pageant at Washington Monday at the close of the demonstration of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage. She was the leader of the sixty children who took part.

CIDER SUGGESTIONS. When your sweet child begins to get "hard" don't consign it to the basement vinegar barrel, but try using it in the following ways:

To bake apples or pears, use cider instead of water to cover half the fruit. Sweeten with brown sugar instead of white, add a few cloves, a stick of cinnamon, a pinch of ground ginger, and the result will be a dish of deliciously flavored fruit covered with a rich, spicy lot of juice.

DOLL'S HOUSE. Mothers who have little girls and not much money to spend for Christmas might profit by this suggestion: Buy a large box from your grocer, put inside it a few dolls, a few dolls' clothes, a few dolls' furniture, a few dolls' accessories, and the third is a bedroom. Then furnish the little rooms after a visit to the 5 and 10-cent store. The doll's house can be kept out of the way in a corner of a room.

THE TABLE. Shredded Wheat Omelet—Three eggs beaten separately; cook in omelet pan; when nearly done add one broken shredded wheat biscuit; fold and serve with tomato sauce seasoned with minced onions, salt and pepper.

Dutch Potatoes—Peel rather large potatoes; cut in lump through each center; have ready as many sausages as you have potatoes; draw one through each cavity; place in a pan; pour over a cup of water; bake until potatoes are tender, basting occasionally.

Cottage Cheese Salad—Add to fresh cottage cheese a few broken nut meats, a sweet green pepper, a slice of Spanish onion, both chopped fine; roll into small balls, place on a lettuce leaf and turn over a little very cold salad dressing.

Pineapple Pie—One cup sugar, one cup finely shredded pineapple (well drained), one teaspoonful lemon juice, white of one egg, one large potato, heat water for ten minutes. Place one tablespoonful of plain ice cream in each dish; put sufficient pineapple fluff around this to almost cover it; drop a maraschino cherry in center or sprinkle with chopped nuts.

Cup Custards—One pint milk, two eggs, nutmeg, sugar to taste. Put mixture in cups. Set these in pan of hot water and bake in hot oven from 15 to 20 minutes; not too long, or custards will get watery.

Slushing Apples—Six large red apples, juice of two oranges, one cup sugar. Wash and core apples; boil until tender in just enough water to cover apples; pure and cook. Sauce: Juice of two oranges and one cup of sugar added to water; apples were boiled in. Cool; pour over apples and serve.

Excellent Batter Cakes (without eggs)—One cake (Weisman's yeast, three cups milk and water mixed, two heaping cups flour, four tablespoons melted lard, four tablespoons syrup. Salt to taste. Dissolve yeast in cupful lukewarm milk. Put into mixing bowl four large eggs up and two cups of milk or mixed milk and water. Add yeast and mix. Set in moderately warm place; cover with cloth and let rise over night. In the morning beat well and fry on greased griddle.

Banana Fluff—Six bananas, one cup cream, three tablespoons sugar. Put bananas in the pulp, also juice of one-half lemon, then add the well-whipped cream, beat again. Chill and serve in frappe glasses.

I have gone with him for three years now and he has not proposed yet. Should I give him some hint toward the subject? Would this be proper?

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

HAVE YOU A LITTLE CARRIER IN YOUR HOME?

Conservative analysis of the results of thousands of examinations of the nose and throat in school children warrants the conclusion that at least one in every hundred children harbors diphtheria germs in nose or throat, even if the child has never had diphtheria.

Can such a child spread diphtheria? And does such a child spread diphtheria? Under ordinary conditions probably not. Still, under extraordinary conditions, the precise nature of which is at present unknown, the susceptibility to infection by diphtheria increases, and then the innocent carrier might be the cause of an epidemic.

Most sanitarians believe that individuals who have really had attacks of diphtheria are more dangerous carriers, providing the germs remain present in the throat or nose after convalescence. The carrier in this instance has obviously acquired sufficient immunity to recover completely, yet he may still harbor virulent diphtheria germs in the secretions of his nose or throat.

Now for every known or unknown carrier of diphtheria bacilli there are probably a dozen carriers of ordinary "cold" germs, or pneumococci. If the truth were told, maybe you have a little carrier in your own home.

Children with adenoids or enlarged tonsils are notoriously subject to infectious inflammations of the upper respiratory tract—the throat and the bronchial tubes. Formerly, this was ascribed to lowered resistance. But the conviction is gaining ground at present that the explanation is that these children are "cold" carriers, and they "catch cold" from themselves every little while, besides passing it on to the rest of the family at frequent intervals.

The diseased tonsils and the thickened adenoid masses furnish ideal harbors for the propagation of "cold" microbes. With a ready stock of well-developed pneumococci always on tap, is it any wonder the child takes cold so easily? Have the little carrier tonsils and adenoids properly treated by the family doctor and notice how favorably the operation reacts upon the family "cold."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Can the treatment for liquor habit be given by a family physician at the patient's home, or is it necessary to enter a hospital? I refer to the Lambert treatment you mentioned some time ago.

Answer—Any competent physician can administer the treatment, but as a rule the patient must be in a hospital or other institution under the care of trained attendants.

Cure For Warts. Please advise through your department of the present sure method for the removal of warts.

Answer—Local anesthetic and the scalpel in the hands of your family doctor.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) If you are going with a steady fellow is it all right to allow him to kiss you once in a while?

(2) What would be a good Christmas present for a chum?

(3) What would you suggest at a sleighing party?

(4) Is it customary to help pay for the boys' TWO CHUMS.

(5) I never heard of a girl letting a boy kiss her once in a while. Is either not at all quite often. In any case she should not let him.

(6) A book, a picture, gloves or neckwear.

(7) Baked beans, hot rolls, jelly and coffee.

(8) Usually the boys pay for the bob.

—By— RUTH CAMERON

USELESS WEALTH. We were passing a very handsome house with perfectly kept lawns, beautiful gardens and a wonderful view the other day.

"How happy the people who live in that house must be," sighed Molly, the little stenographer lady.

"Rich people aren't always happy, you know," suggested the Author.

"Well, at least, they never have to worry about bills," said Molly.

The cynic laughed. "That's funny," he said. "I don't happen to know about the people in that particular house, but a man who is in the brokerage business told me that a lot of the people in these houses out here live most of the time from hand to mouth. Some of them have big fortunes on paper, but can't get hold of enough ready money to pay half their bills. The men usually have big schemes on hand that take all their ready money and strain their credit, and as soon as they put one scheme through they take up another one. And the women lap up the money as fast as it flows in. Half the time they have more trouble paying their bills than we poor folks."

What's the Worst Thing About Small Means? What is the worst thing about having very limited means? It isn't the deprivations, is it? It isn't the planning or contriving there's a fascination about that when it's successful. It isn't the necessity for never letting up a moment on one's watchfulness of the pennies. That's bad enough, but there's something worse. It's the anxiety that comes when even the most skillful planning, the most relentless watching does not succeed in reaching both ends meet. It is driven from pillar to post in the frantic effort to face what seem to be absolutely necessary obligations.

Freedom From Anxiety, Money's Best Boon. Money to people in such straits means above all things freedom from care and anxiety.

Just imagine letting that greatest boon slip through one's fingers.

With My Letter Friends. Question—People pass on the right. Should not then the lady walk on the right of her companion to give him the bumps and jostlings incident to crowded streets?

Answer—If people pass to the right and the woman walks on the right of the man, wouldn't that bring her on the side on which the passing is done? On the sidewalk a woman is supposed to walk on the inside, whether right or left.

Daily Thought. God intends no man to live in this world without working; but he intends every man to be happy in his work.

Corn Beef Hash—Moisten the whole with cream, spread slowly and place the pan so that the hash will brown slowly and evenly underneath. When done, fold over and turn out on the platter. You can do the browning in the oven if you prefer.

RESERVES TO GIVE LAKOTAS A COMBAT

Lakota Cardinals Will Have to Play Better Against Varsity Stars Than They Did With Beloit.

Just how good the Lakota Cardinals are this year will be thoroughly demonstrated tonight when the Lakotas play the University Reserves at the Auditorium. With one victory under their belt, the Lakotas are ready to continue in the field of conquests and expect a hard fought game tonight and none to be on the credit side of the score.

Besides some of the reserve squadrons who are not eligible to make the first team, the Reserves will have several players who are taking a post-graduate course and were members of the championship teams of Coach Meanwell a few years back. The team that will play the Lakotas tonight will be at least twenty-five per cent better than the Beloit five who played here last week. Consequently, the Cardinals will have to speed up in their playing.

Tonight the Lakotas will have their full lineup. Ed and Dalton will be at guards. Dalton during the week has been practicing goal shooting and now declares he does not need another player to locate the basket. Fleming will be at center. Atwood and Korst will play the forwards. This will be Korst's first game with the Lakotas this year and much is expected from him. A stricter enforcement of the rules is to be made. While intense and hard playing is wanted, it is expected there will be less "rough" playing than in the past. Intense and roughness, it is understood, will not be tolerated.

LEARY'S BARBERS TAKE GAME FROM CRONINS; I. O. O. F. WIN GAME

Leary's Barbers improved in their bowling last night and won from the Cronin Dairy company team. Yeomans of the barbers rolled the highest score in the match with 216 pins. Fleming of the Cronins followed with 142 pins.

I. O. O. F. No. 90 bowling team last night at the Miller alley from the Bostwick Dry Goods. Five took the high honors, while Kueck followed him close with 203 pins.

Elks Bowls. Two bowling teams from the Elks Lodge rolled last night. Team No. 1 won by a close margin of 27 pins. Kimball of the losers was high man with a score of 184 pins. Lineups:

Beloit, Wis., Dec. 17.—Northwestern University basketball players will meet the Beloit five tonight. After the good showing made by Beloit against the University of Wisconsin team, fans look for the local team to conquer Northwestern.

The Pacific coast baseball season next year will begin on Tuesday, April 4, and close on Sunday, Oct. 29. Opening games will be Portland at San Francisco, Vernon at Los Angeles, Oakland at Salt Lake.

HIGH SCHOOL FIVE IN GAME WITH JEFFERSON

Local High School Basketball Team Play Game at Jefferson Tonight.

Today the high school basketball team went to Jefferson to play against the high school team of that city. The game last Friday night showed Coach Keck that his men needed practice and all this week he has been sending them through stiff drills. The game tonight will be played under a great handicap as the gymnasium in that city is very small and low. Last night the team was put through drills in handling the ball and shooting baskets. In a short scrimmage with the second squad they had little trouble in running up a large score against the scrubs. Seven men were taken to Jefferson tonight: Lee, Cronin, Weirick, Rich, Cushing, Vinay and Morse. The Jefferson team is not considered to be very strong but the locals are prepared for a hard struggle.

JAMES CALLAHAN NAMED AS MANAGER OF PIRATES

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 17.—President Barney Dreyfuss announced Thursday night that James J. Callahan, former manager of the Chicago White Sox, has been appointed manager of the Pittsburgh National League team to succeed Fred Clarke, resigned. The announcement came as a complete surprise as Callahan's name had at no time been mentioned in connection with the job. It is understood the new manager signed a contract for one year only. Callahan managed the Chicago White Sox for three years, being succeeded last year by Clarence Rowland. President Dreyfuss left Thursday night for New York.

BASEBALL PEACE NEAR AND YET SO FAR AWAY

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE] New York, Dec. 17.—With a committee of American leaguers en route to New York to go into conference on Friday with representatives of the National and Federal circuits regarding peace, there is still doubt in the minds of baseball authorities here on Thursday night as to whether the prolonged major league baseball war actually will be terminated as the result of the conference now but twenty-four hours distant. Neither representatives of the National nor Federal leagues would venture a prediction on the final outcome of the coming conference.

The disposition of players in the Federal league, especially those who deserted organized baseball during the hostilities, still remained in doubt Thursday. Harry Sinclair, one of the chief backers of the independent circuit, on Thursday reiterated his previous statement that every player under contract to the Federals must be taken care of before peace could become a reality. President Tener also said Thursday night he favored the restoration of all contract jumpers from organized ranks to good standing. The National league executive committee every step toward peace had been carefully thought out and that he expected no further difficulties in the negotiations as far as the National and Federal leagues were concerned.

Informal conferences and hotel lobby gatherings at which peace was the paramount topic occupied the baseball men on Thursday.

Milton News

Milton, Dec. 17.—Miss Royce of Whitewater, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Alice Cleland. The college basketball schedule, which has not yet been completed, is as follows:

Jan. 12—Platteville Normal at Platteville.
Jan. 20—Campion College at Prairie du Chien.
Jan. 21—Platteville at Milton.
Feb. 2—Milwaukee Normal at Milwaukee.
Feb. 9—Ripon College at Ripon.
Feb. 10—Ripon at Milton.
Feb. 24—Milwaukee at Milton.
There will probably be two games with St. John's Military Academy, one here and one at St. Cloud. The V. V. I. club met last night and the following program was enjoyed: December 16—Hostess, Mrs. Croslav.

"Low, now has come our joyfulst feast. Let every man be jolly. Each room with yvie leaves is dressed. And every post with holly."

Entertainment of Fortnightly club of Milton Junction. Program given by Professor Stringer, Milton College. Social hour. Prof. Stringer read "Bethlehem" with piano accompaniment by President Daland. The home of the hostess was a perfect bower of Christmas greens. Tiny evergreen trees, ornaments, nativity scenes, and the doorways and stair rail were festooned with running pine and bright red berries. A sprig of holly on the tray of each guest served was given in favor. A delicious two course lunch was served to the guests and about forty-five of the club members. Mesdames Wood and Homs furnished music during the lunch. Mrs. V. C. Daland went to Evansville today, where she gave an address before the Women's club of that place.

HUBBEL TO PAY $60 FOR NEW CULVERT

Settlement Reached Yesterday in Circuit Court.—Town of Porter to Pay Remainder.

Judge George Grimm presiding in circuit court yesterday, that the highway obstruction case of the town of Porter be amicably settled between the contesting parties, here fruit. The case was brought by the state versus John Hubbel, who, it was brought out, suffered considerable farm property damage due to the highway had been filled during country road-work. District Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie appeared for the state.

Under the settlement reached Mr. Hubbel is to pay the sum of sixty dollars towards the construction of a suitable cement culvert at a point designated by Judge Grimm, County Highway Commissioner Charles E. Moore and C. V. Kerch, city engineer, while the town is to pay the balance.

On the motion of District Attorney Dunwiddie a motion was passed after the agreement had been reached. The case was taken from the municipal court on a change of venue.

At those who were fortunate enough to see "The Juggernaut" when it was shown a short time ago at the Majestic, and even those who had witnessed the picture then, took great pleasure in watching the second appearance here in this city. In certain respects it is a motion picture program that can easily be relished a second time for its story of a railroad romance and the many thrilling scenes are staged in a very elaborate manner. The exciting wreck of a train over a high trestle into the seething river below was still there and enjoyed again by the Majestic patrons.

Pleasant Fields of Holy Writ

Save for my daily range
Among the pleasant fields of Holy Writ.
I might despair. —Tennyson.
The International Sunday School Lesson.

Motto for this Week: "But this word no tyrant should have been able to consume, no tradition to choke, no heretic maliciously to corrupt; that it should stand unto this day without the change of one sentence so as to change the doctrine therein taught—surely this is a very singular providence, claiming our attention in a most remarkable manner."—John Jewell, Bishop of Salisbury, 1522-1571. Fourth Quarter. Lesson XII.

CHRISTMAS LESSON: THE SONG OF THE ANGELS.
(THE STORY.)

Angelic annunciation of the one hand, and lowly environment of the nativity on the other, may represent, the one the divinity, the other the humanity of Jesus. Imagination that cannot exaggerate the splendor that burst upon the wakened shepherds. "All heaven's heraldry and radiant minstrelsy!" The firmament, but soft. An ineffable choeur of man on earth, a dumb, and freighted heavily with the thought of God. This seraphic scene may well represent the heavenly Messiah. It is a gift of the deity that he had received from eternity. But there is the darkest possible earthly reverse to this glittering was made not in the festal temple, but in a rough Judean sheep pasture, not to lodged sandedist nor milky, but in the plainest, homeliest of folk. The striking of manners and letters. As has idealized the scene and circumstance of the nativity. But the true countenance of the heavenly vision was the meanest sight imaginable. Ivory cradle or silken canopy; no soft clothing of Babylonian web or Tyrian dye; no kindly house of marble and cedar, but a stable and that, too, of a crowded caravanary. The striking of yermis, noise—an outer place. "Low lies his bed with the beasts of the stall." And the mean conditions are not relieved as on Correggio's lovely canvas, by hovering angels and radiating light. Yet this is the very sign by means of which the shepherds are to identify the babe whose birth has just had a superlatively splendid annunciation. A babe in swaddle and manger is the infallible token. It is this juxtaposition of a heavenly manifestation with the meanest conceivable earthly environment, that strikingly symbolizes the union of divinity and humanity in the newborn king.

It pleased Him who in the beginning created all things, that He should condescend to dwell in the lowly manger. By the very place and circumstance of his nativity, Jesus revealed the artificial partitions of society, and showed that all should equally draw to God. No son of man has ever been born under conditions lower than those under which Jesus was born. So he is not ashamed to call any brother, and he is loved with a feeling for all. Again, by the very manner of his advent, the "other-worldliness" of his kingdom is emphasized. Temporal power is ruled out. Secular ambition has no room. His kingdom came not with observation, with pomp and circumstance, but under the lowliest possible conditions, and with an angelic joy-sung in the ears of the shepherds. The kingdom is subjective; it is within. Its substance is righteousness; its concomitants peace and joy.

THE TEACHER'S LANTERN.

That the "Three Kings" should ever be hostile to Jesus is an anomaly. He belongs to them. Poverty and toil were his environment; carpentry his trade. He is brother to the mechanic, the helter, skelter of working-folk. His Church must have missed the mark in their portrait of him to the masses, or else the veil of prejudice is on their hearts when the Gospel is read. The Magi lost their star when they turned toward Jerusalem under the supposition that a king must needs be born in a capital. But quietude drew to the finding of an earthly king—it was none to the finding of the king of heaven. Even yet we are not to be offended if we find Jesus under the humblest of auspices—in a conventicle rather than in a cathedral; under guidance of an unlettered plowman rather than a learned prelate.

The shepherds gave instant obedience to the angelic vision. Their faith was not dashed by the lowly environment of the babe. They saw, believed, and praised. Blessed exemplars of the true seeker of Jesus! The shepherds reduced to the lowly routine of their homely lives? After having heard such a seraphic overture and seen the person of the long-expected Messiah, how could they come down to the humdrum of keeping sheep? But they did. They were all the better shepherds for it, too. Sound and sane, the sight of Jesus need not be for every-day tasks. The object of the appearance of the angels to the shepherds was to make them witnesses. Their evidence was to be availed of afterwards that Jesus was born in Bethlehem at the time of the taxing, and that he was declared by angels to be the Christ of God.

The singular grace, Luke's narrative, its almost idyllic grace, its sweet, calm tone of noble reticence, seem clearly to indicate that he derived it from the lips of Mary herself. Mothers are the natural historians of infant years. There is for each a personal advent—a heavenly announcement to the soul of the innocence of a child. The child's reasonably demand investigation. The shepherd-like obedience which goes to see how falls of its reward. Christ is born in the seeker the hope of glory, and he returns glorifying and praising God.

ANALYSIS AND KEY.

Angelic announcement, a lowly environment. Birth of the Messiah, His humanity. Stable and manger sign. Heavenly manifestation, meanest earthly environment in juxtaposition. Means of identification: Jesus' birth reveals artificial social barriers. Character of Advent rules out secular ambition: Kingdom not of this world.

SAYS HOT WATER EACH DAY KEEPS THE DOCTOR AWAY

Drink Glass of Hot Water Before Breakfast to Wash Out the Poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It clears out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation. king of heaven. Even yet we are not to be offended if we find Jesus under the humblest of auspices—in a conventicle rather than in a cathedral; under guidance of an unlettered plowman rather than a learned prelate. The shepherds gave instant obedience to the angelic vision. Their faith was not dashed by the lowly environment of the babe. They saw, believed, and praised. Blessed exemplars of the true seeker of Jesus! The shepherds reduced to the lowly routine of their homely lives? After having heard such a seraphic overture and seen the person of the long-expected Messiah, how could they come down to the humdrum of keeping sheep? But they did. They were all the better shepherds for it, too. Sound and sane, the sight of Jesus need not be for every-day tasks. The object of the appearance of the angels to the shepherds was to make them witnesses. Their evidence was to be availed of afterwards that Jesus was born in Bethlehem at the time of the taxing, and that he was declared by angels to be the Christ of God.

The singular grace, Luke's narrative, its almost idyllic grace, its sweet, calm tone of noble reticence, seem clearly to indicate that he derived it from the lips of Mary herself. Mothers are the natural historians of infant years. There is for each a personal advent—a heavenly announcement to the soul of the innocence of a child. The child's reasonably demand investigation. The shepherd-like obedience which goes to see how falls of its reward. Christ is born in the seeker the hope of glory, and he returns glorifying and praising God.

ANALYSIS AND KEY.

Angelic announcement, a lowly environment. Birth of the Messiah, His humanity. Stable and manger sign. Heavenly manifestation, meanest earthly environment in juxtaposition. Means of identification: Jesus' birth reveals artificial social barriers. Character of Advent rules out secular ambition: Kingdom not of this world.

L. C. WHITTET WINS SUIT IN CIRCUIT COURT HERE

Lawrence C. Whittet, Edgerton, speaker in the lower house of the Wisconsin legislature, was awarded the sum of three hundred dollars yesterday in the circuit court by Judge George Grimm as part payment on a promissory note, the action being brought against John Dalby. The amount of one hundred and twenty-four dollars and thirty-two cents, which includes the remainder of the principal and costs, is to be paid the plaintiff when he disposes of tobacco in his possession.

There will be a program and box social given by the teacher, Miss Edie Pinnate, and pupils at the Bass Creek school, District No. 7, town of Rock Tuesday evening, December 21st. Commencing at 7:30 P. M. All are cordially invited.

Miss Frances Hill last evening entertained a party of young ladies at the Tea Ball Inn, in honor of Miss Marion Jenkins, who will become the bride of Glenn Fisher on Wednesday next.

THE BOOK FARMER

MAKING GOOD ON THE LAND

By GARRARD HARRIS

COPYRIGHT, 1915,
BY HARRIS & BROTHERS.

"They do that to kill the flies and insects that bother them and to keep cool in summer. Mud isn't filthy. Give a hog a good range for pasture and clean water to drink and he is clean as a cow."

Annie was not convinced. "They eat nasty slops," she announced crushingly.

"If the slops are nasty it's the fault of the people that give them to the hogs. Pigs naturally graze like cows and horses and would rather eat green grass or grain than slops any time," said Joe.

"I never knew that before," remarked his mother; "but, come to think of it, they always do seem to be eating something off the ground."

"It's grass and weeds and roots and such stuff. And they don't mind a nice fat cricket or a grasshopper either," said Joe.

As the three strolled back to the house Mrs. Weston looked over in the field behind the barn. There was Mr. Weston with the two horses turning plow breaking about five acres of land as deeply as he could sink the plow.

"Well, I never!" she exclaimed. "This is the first time I ever heard of your father breaking any land before March, Joe. I wonder what put him in that notion?"

"He seen Buddy doing it," announced Annie, with an air of conviction. His mother and sister continued toward the house, and Joe went to where his father was steadily plowing.

"What you going to plant, daddy?" he asked. Mr. Weston grinned a bit sheepishly.

"I ain't never thought about plantin' oats till I seen you do it, and I just figured I could follow the oats with late corn, an' maybe some peavine hay for these critters, and make a double crop on the land. It's pretty late to be plantin' oats, though, ain't it? You don't s'pose it's too late, do you?"

It was the first time his father had ever recognized him as knowing anything at all about farming, and to be asked as an authority compensated for a whole lot of things.

"No, sir; they'll make all right. If I were you I'd cross break this land, and I'll harrow it for you tomorrow."

"Exactly what I was going to do," said his father.

"And, daddy, if you want to, you can turn those horses in on my eye nights when Sullivan's horses are off. I think some green stuff would help them a whole lot."

"Now, that's mighty clever, son-an' you needn't pay for the use of the wagon to haul that fertilizer in, nor for the use of the harrow and horse."

"Thank you, sir. I'm going up now and see how much seed oats I have left—I think there is a bushel and a half. You may have 'em—it will save you just that much."

His father's eyes followed him up the hill toward the house. Joe felt nearer to his father than he could ever recall before—more on an equality as a comrade with him.

"Giddap, Baldy!" called Tom Weston to the lazy one of his team. "Baldy, I thought that boy was actin' the fool about these leaves an' stuff an' this here deep plowin'. It ain't him, Baldy; it's me. Giddap! By gawny, I got to be makin' up for a lot of time I've lost by bein' plighted."

That night Joe got down his account book. One page he had headed "Expense," and there he carefully entered every cent paid out for posts, wire, labor, seed. On the opposite side he wrote the heading "Income" for the first results of his farming operations that had come in the shape of two scrawny little pigs.

"Received from J. Sullivan two spotted pigs six weeks old; value, $2 each; total, $4," he entered. On another page he headed, "J. Weston in acct. with Weston & Somerville." He had taken the pigs in for the firm, but presented both to his mother and sister.

"To one of the Sullivan pigs," he wrote under his individual account, then paused. He started to charge the pig at the two dollar value, but at once put the thought from him.

"One of those pigs is mine; the other is Mr. Somerville's. If I take his pig and make a present of it I should settle with Mr. Somerville at what the pig would be worth when he and I settle in the fall. I'll pay for it out of my share of the crop," he said to himself. Then he picked up the pen.

"To one of the Sullivan pigs, $15," he wrote.

CHAPTER V.

Joe's Father Interested.

JOE could handle a small single horse plow himself, but a two horse turning plow was a bit beyond his strength.

He made a trade with his father, therefore, who agreed to turn the rye under for $3 on the three acres. Jess and Baldy, the horses, had been greatly improved by grazing upon the strength giving green food and looked almost like different animals.

The third week in January was bright and dry, so after the rye had been turned under Joe borrowed the barrow and one horse and smoothed the three acres again himself, thus making it fine and level and covering some of the rye that showed in the furrows left by the plow. The acre of oats was not disturbed, and John L. and Mike, the Sullivan pigs, were left in the field to graze upon it.

Saturday morning Mr. Weston hitched up the wagon to go to town, and Joe went with him.

"Well, partner, how's everything coming along?" inquired Mr. Somerville, shaking hands cordially.

"All right, sir. Got the ground in fine shape now, and a mighty pretty stand of oats."

"What do you think of Joe as a book farmer now, Tom?" inquired Mr. Somerville, with a sly wink. Mr. Weston looked embarrassed for a moment.

"Think enough of him to follow him some," he said. "I've put in four acres of oats and one of rye I'd never 'at thought of plowin' until I seen him do it. Then I've plowed deep five acres also an' bodded it up for corn an' cotton, only I ain't put no leaves in it or fertilizer. I want to see if there's anything to all this."

"Now, that's the talk. If there is you are considerably ahead, and if there isn't you haven't lost anything but some time."

"That's the way I figured it."

"Joe, I'm about ready to order the cotton seed and the seed corn," said Mr. Somerville.

"Now, that's another thing," said Tom Weston. "I wanted to see if you'd order the same sort for me you an' Joe plant."

"Pears to me the corn we raise around here oughter have two ears on 'it 'ad of one. That stalk's there, an' hit ain't no more trouble to have another ear on 'it an' get twice as much corn?" Joe and Mr. Somerville exchanged brief smiles.

"Why, Tom, you are getting to be a sort of book farmer yourself."

"That ain't no book farmin'. That's just horse sense."

"That is all book farming is, just the latest and newest and most reliable common sense, only it is just more common sense than most of us have thought of, that's all."

"What cotton have you selected, Mr. Somerville?" asked Joe.

"A sort the government has tested on ten experiment farms in this latitude for the last four years. It averages three weeks ahead of anything we have, and the staple, or fiber, of the cotton is over an inch long. It is said to be a very heavy bearer also. It ought to bring a fine price if kept free of dirt and trash and stain."

"All right, sir. That's the kind we want."

"Yes, order me enough of that, too, so's I can plant three acres, will you?" asked Tom Weston.

"Glad to do it, Tom. The price is a bit steep, though."

"Don't care what the price is. If it makes cotton like you say it does I can well afford to buy it, and I'll sell the seed myself next fall to folks around here. It beats any cotton ever grown around this country."

"Very well. I'll order enough for you. And Joe, I've got a corn that will make two ears to the stalk certain, the grower says."

"I'm going to breed me a three and four ear variety," said Joe.

"You're a-goin' to do what?" inquired his father sarcastically.

"Breed a three and four ear variety." Tom Weston laughed. "Tolks 'breed' cattle an' s'ch, but I never heered nuthin' of 'breedin' corn," he said.

"How do you suppose this two ear variety we are going to plant got started, then, Tom?" inquired Mr. Somerville.

"Why—why—er—it is—er—it's just that sort of corn," he floundered.

"Certainly it is, but why did it happen to be that sort?"

"Well, I'm blamed if I know, to tell the truth about it."

"If you'd read some of Joe's books you'd find out a lot of things you don't know. Now tell your dad, Joe, how you are going to 'breed' a three ear corn."

Joe was embarrassed, but plunged bravely in.

"It takes several years to do it, daddy. Now, this seed corn we are getting is 'fixed' at two ears to the stalk—we can depend on that much. If we give it all the plant food it can take some of it is going to show three ears, but the third ears are not going to be much more than nubbins."

"Well, I don't see no advantage in them nubbins."

"Yes, sir; nubbins are good to feed hogs on. But if we go through that field and pick out the best stalks with three ears on them and then pick the most perfect ears from the lot and plant the seed from them next year, the nubbins will be bigger, and more of them on an average, and maybe some of the stalks will show—show—"

"Rudimentary ears," said Mr. Somerville.

"Thanks; I couldn't remember it, but it means just the beginning of an ear—not developed. Then, if the best of those stalks is saved for seed next year the rudimentary ears will be larger."

"I begin to sort of catch on now," said Tom Weston.

"Each year the selected seed, the best of the last year's crop, will in time produce a perfect third ear, and several years of this work will 'fix' the habit of the corn so that every stalk can be depended on to bring three ears. Then a person can keep on."

"Well, if that ain't the pump limit."

"No, sir; not the limit. I'm going to have a four ear corn before I quit."

"You reckon all that is really true?" asked Tom Weston.

"Of course it is, Tom. It has been proved too many times to doubt it. It is just a question of care and patience."

"Well, well, well. Why, if Joe gets that corn up to four ears he's got a pretty good thing, ain't he?"

"Got a fortune. It would sell for $5 a bushel for seed."

"Who!"

"And a four ear corn ought to make 200 bushels to the acre without a bit of trouble, and 200 bushels at $5 is $1,000 an acre, isn't it, dad?" His father gazed at him with unwonted respect.

"Think I'll borrow some of them books of yours and do some readin' myself," said Tom, "but I never had no chance when I was a chap, an' readin' is powerful slow work for me. I've done mighty little of it too."

"You can't start any sooner, Tom," said the merchant.

"That's right. I just learned that much."

The Usual Trouble With Placing a Want Ad. In the Gazette Is That There Are More Calls Than Articles To Sell

Try it and see. Maybe you have something about the house which could be sold, giving you extra Christmas money.

READ WHAT MR. BOOHER DID.

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 11, 1915.

Gazette Pub. Co.,

Gentlemen: I ran an adv. in the Gazette on Dec. 4, Tues., Dec. 7, and Thurs., Dec. 9, as follows:

FOR SALE—Extra choice S. O. Rhode Island Red cockerels, 10 each. Old phone 1938. David Booher, Sugar Beet Factory.

I had one call on Saturday night, two calls on Sunday, two calls Monday, two calls Tuesday, five on Wednesday, six on Thursday, and three on Friday. I had twenty cockerels when I ran the above adv. and I sold all of them, and could have sold more of them if I had them. I think that this shows beyond any doubt that it pays to advertise in the Gazette.

Respectfully Yours,

DAVID W. BOOHER.

Sea Took Toll of Daring Sailors.

Intercourse between Russia and England began in the middle of the sixteenth century by the White sea. It was a hazardous and costly voyage. The crews of two of the three ships with which Richard Chancellor made his first trip in 1553 were frozen to death. Sir Hugh Willoughby among them. On his second venture in 1556 Chancellor brought back with him a Russian ambassador, Osep Nejea. Two of the ships were never heard of again, and the Edward Bonaventura, after four months at sea, was wrecked on the Scottish coast. Chancellor, many of the crew, and seven Russians perished, but Osep Nejea was among the survivors, and the English lords and merchants went out in state before Shoreditch to welcome this "duke of Muscovia."—London Chronicle.

Snowdrop Snuff.

Those who have tried it declare that the petals of snowdrops, dried and crushed to powder, make a fragrant and exhilarating snuff. However, some of our country folk, who fill their pipes with all kinds of weeds as substitutes for tobacco, might not care to hand round a box filled with snowdrop snuff. In many rural parts of England the snowdrop is a flower of ill repute. It is unlucky to carry the first spray of the season into the house and it is a barbarous act to offer snowdrops to anyone of the opposite sex. Such a gift is supposed to imply a wish for the death of the recipient.—London Chronicle.

Environment.

To bring up a child right you will have to bring up its parent right. A stream doesn't rise above its source. Many parents go waddling along through the world as if they did not amount to much, but they do—they determine the character of their child. Sometimes a child arises above its origin, but that comes because it has fallen into environment that helps it upward and onward. The greatest circumstance in education is environment. Some parents don't seem to care a snap for it.

OPENING DANUBE FOR TRAFFIC IS OF GREAT IMPORT

Military and Economic Advantage Gained Since Serbs Have Been Driven From River.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Belgrade, Serbia, Dec. 17.—What great military and economic advantage was gained by the German and their allies with the opening of traffic on the Danube, has been shown by the activity in shipping which developed directly after the Serbs had been driven from the banks of the river. Fighting along the Danube was still in progress when the Austrians started to clear a channel through the mine fields which the Russians, Serbs and English had laid out. Meanwhile large tows, carrying military supplies needed by Turkey and Bulgaria, were being brought down the river from Austro-Hungarian and German ports and assembled at Semlin, ready for the minute when navigation became possible. Austrian river monitors, notably the Sava and Temes, had in the meantime sailed the Danube as far as Lom Palanka, and later to Ruschuck, both Bulgarian ports, and in so doing had cleared the river of some Russian armed merchant vessels stationed in the Rumanian port of Turn-Severin. That these vessels were not sunk or captured by the Austrians is due to the fact that, on the day which the Associated Press correspondent made the trip up the river as a guest on the Sava, they were being conveyed down stream by Rumanian monitors. The Russians themselves flying the Rumanian flag.

The Bulgarian port of Lom Palanka was the scene of great activity. For over fifteen months the river from upstream had arrived there. Now the jetties were crowded with barges from Austria and Germany. On the previous day King Ferdinand of Bulgaria and Premier Radoslawoff had been at Lom Palanka to assist in the resumption of traffic between Bulgaria and the central powers, an event which Germany and Austria-Hungary thought important enough to have inaugurated by Duke Albrecht of Mecklenburg, brother-in-law of Emperor William, who was a passenger on the first convoy arriving.

For the first two weeks nothing but military supplies were shipped downstream, principally arms and ammunition for Bulgaria and Turkey. Both these countries stood in need of heavy artillery and artillery ammunition. Some of the later boats brought a large number of heavy motor trucks, combat scout aeroplanes, ambulances and sanitary supplies. Since then ordinary merchandise has been admitted to shipment. The returning barges and boats carry raw material of all sorts and foodstuffs. During the last few days a regular passenger and mail service to Lom Palanka has been in operation, until the traffic on the Danube may be considered normal with the difference that never before had it known such proportions. The military supplies of which Bulgaria and Turkey can make use are many, and on the other hand, Austria-Hungary and Germany offer an eager market for the agricultural and animal industry products of the two first mentioned countries.

Some anxiety had been felt in Constantinople and lately in Sofia that the heavy demand which the war made on their relatively scant stores of artillery ammunition might soon create a problem it would be difficult to solve in case a free route of communication were not opened up. This, in fact, was the principal reason why the Danube was so important to Serbia was understood when it was thought the attitude of Bulgaria necessarily played an important part in this. But German and Austrian war efforts were not the sole factor. The central powers could make good use of Turkish and Bulgarian wool, skin, hides, cereals and copper ores and Turkey and Bulgaria needed the revenues which would come from the sale of these materials. It is to be doubted that history ever before presented an instance in which the opening of a line of communication met so adequately the needs of four allied peoples engaged in war, or that from this condition so urgent a necessity had sprung. For the first time since the outbreak of the European war Germany and Austria-Hungary are relatively independent economically, while Turkey and Bulgaria now have within their reach an inexhaustible supply of war materials.

The great mineral stores of the Balkans and the Ottoman Empire, the shortage of copper in the central states has been ended by the taking of the copper mines near Milanovac and elsewhere in Serbia. Bulgaria, too, has a large number of copper mines, the best of them near Mesdra, on the Mesdra-Lom Palanka branch railroad, and the Turks can meet any possible shortage with copper from Anatolia, notably from the Sivas region. Chemical raw material also may be brought from Turkey in Asia and a paucity of cotton for explosives is now altogether unlikely. The staple is produced in considerable quantities in the Cilician plain. It is of interest to learn that even a placer gold field has been found in the hands of the central powers, that near Milanovac, Serbia. Washing is now in progress.

In a single day the Associated Press correspondent saw many as nine tows go down the river, each consisting of a tug and seven barges—the latter each carrying the equivalent of one hundred freight cars, giving the day's traffic a total of 630 barges, or 215 trains of average size. For the five days spent on the river the total cannot be less than 40,000 carloads, or, with bulk and weight brought into relation, over a million tons. Many of the tows came directly from Germany, the names of the barges, homoports and the distances traveled, indicating that they had been concentrated in the Austrian reaches of the Danube when the offensive against Serbia had not yet begun. As an example of German and Austro-Hungarian thoroughness, the preparations for the resumption of Danube traffic are noteworthy.

Already train connections for military purposes exist between Berlin and Constantinople and, according to assertion made here, a through passenger and express freight service will be in operation within three weeks via Belgrade and Nish. The Serbs were not given time enough to destroy this line as thoroughly as was expected they would and as a result of this people here hope to travel soon on the "Brussels-Berlin-Baghdad-Belgrade-Bulgarian-Byzantium."

ORDER YOUR "GRUB" BY MEANS OF A PATENT CLOCK

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Two Rivers, Wis., Dec. 17.—"Ship wreck two," "Adam and Eve on a raft" and like calls popular with the clerks who tend bar in restaurants and lunch rooms are a thing of the past. A device that will do away with this form of amusement for those who patronize the one arm chair eating establishments has been invented by A. L. Weber and A. E. Tribble, employees of the Hamilton Watch Co. of this city. It is a clock arrangement whereby a patron pushes a button and a dial in the kitchen registers the wants to the cook. The invention is now being tested in Chicago lunch rooms.

MILWAUKEE LABORERS AWAIT THE ICE CUTTING TIME NOW

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milwaukee, Wis., Dec. 17.—Hereafter though this has been an exceptionally good winter in labor circles, Milwaukeeans are looking forward today to the opening of the ice cutting season, which will give employment to several thousand men.

John H. Kopmeyer, president of the Wisconsin Lakes and Ice Co., said today that his concern would hire at least 2,000 men within the next few days to start cutting ice. The ice on the Upper Milwaukee river is now nearly thick enough to start work.

The state free employment office has made arrangements to give employment to nearly all men who are out of jobs and are willing to take up this work.

Work was found for 150 men today when the "twenty-two inch" mill was put into operation in Bay View. This mill has been idle for several years. One shift of men is being used. Structural steel will be made.

CATCHER AGNEW IS SOLD TO THE BOSTON RED SOX

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 17.—Secretary Mason of the St. Louis Americans announced Thursday afternoon that Manager Riskey had sold Catcher Sam Agnew to the Boston Red Sox. It had been "guessed" by the smart ones here that Riskey, who is in Chicago, would trade the husky backstop to Clark Griffith.

The terms of the deal were not made public. A man on the outside of the local club's affairs said that Manager Carrigan of Boston offered Infielder Janvin and $10,000 for the catcher last season.

Daily Thought.
To talk in public, to think in solitude, to read, and to hear, to inquire and answer inquiries, is the business of a scholar.—Johnson.

MAY RETURN MONEY IN CHINA GIVEN WHILE THE NATION WAS A REPUBLIC

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Shanghai, Dec. 17.—Both the Bank of China and the Bank of Communications have opened their offices to return money to subscribers of the National Salvation Fund. The demand for the return of the money which subscribers gave largely for the purpose of strengthening the government under the republic have become so insistent since the beginning of the monarchical movement that the government officials, apparently felt that it was inadvisable to retain the money of unwilling givers.

Since the establishment of the National Salvation Fund seven months ago, $750,000 has been contributed at Shanghai alone. As there is a large element in this city opposed to the change in the form of government, it ### is likely that the withdrawals from the fund will be numerous.

The National Salvation Fund grew out of the patriotic outbursts following the Japanese demands last spring. The recent action of Japan, in conjunction with the European powers, seeking a partition of the monarchial movement, has been a part of many Chinese as resumption of the Japanese effort to gain control over Chinese affairs. This action on the part of Japan has tended to silence many Chinese who opposed the monarchy, but feel that China should present an unbroken front to outside interference.

Many Chinese newspapers which opposed the monarchy have dropped that fight to resume the opposition to Japan.
